

Rash Of Ohio School Strikes Spreads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Columbus school officials planned today to ask Franklin County Common Pleas Court for a temporary restraining order requiring striking teachers to return to their jobs.

Meanwhile, a federal mediator called Board of Education and Columbus Education Association representatives in for an afternoon negotiating session in an effort to break the salary deadlock that triggered the walkout Monday.

In other Ohio school disputes, teachers in Greenville carried their walkout into a second day under a court order limiting picketing, while a threatened strike today by teachers in the Columbus suburb of Whitehall was averted when the school board agreed to reopen negotiations.

In Columbus, the school board suit asked that teachers be ordered to honor their individual contracts with the school system.

While the agreement between the CEA and the school board expired Dec. 31, the district's contracts with individual teachers run through the current school year, officials said.

Bob Mullins, spokesman for the CEA, said the association had not received official notification of any pending legal action and he could not say what its reaction would be.

"Until we do, we still will be on the picket lines," he said.

Members of the CEA, which represents about 78 per cent of the city's 5,000 teachers, voted to strike after contract negotiations broke off Saturday with the two sides still far apart.

The school board refused to budge from its offer of a 4 per cent salary increase, saying it could not afford higher raises, while teachers held out for a 12 per cent hike. Instructors now receive an average of $11,500 a year, with starting teachers getting $9,800.

School officials said about 25,000 pupils, or 25 per cent of the city's total enrollment, attended classes Monday. The CEA claimed only 11 per cent were present.

A spokesman for the board said 40 per cent of the normal teaching positions were staffed with certified people, including substitute teachers, administrators, counselors and supervisors, plus regular teachers who reported for work.

The CEA said 80 per cent of the teachers joined the strike Monday.

Most of the 1,500 nonteaching personnel reportedly crossed the picket lines.

In Greenville, spokesmen for strikers said about three-quarters of the district's 217 teachers stayed off the job Monday to protest cutbacks in staff and programs and a freeze on a previously-promised 2.8 per cent pay hike.

Darke County Common Pleas Court issued an injunction Monday limiting pickets to three at each site.

Officials said classes would continue with the help of some teachers, teacher aides and parents.

The school board says it cannot implement provisions of a salary agreement signed last summer and will have to cut 35 to 40 positions and eliminate some programs because of voter rejection last year of three tax levies.

In Whitehall, the board of education agreed Monday night to procedures for reopening negotiations with teachers. The action reversed a Dec. 11 decision by the board not to resume talks Feb. 13—a date agreed to by Whitehall Education Association officials and school Supt. Gilbert Johnson.

Hearings Slated On Remap

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hearings were to begin today in the Ohio House on a bill by majority Democrats to try to improve their 8-15 disadvantage in the state's congressional delegation.

After lengthy fights Monday night on rules and procedural questions, the bill headed into the House State Government Committee for expected prompt approval there, clearing the way for a House floor vote Wednesday.

Under a timetable set up by House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, and Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, approval would come by Friday—in time for the signature of outgoing Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Gov.-elect James A. Rhodes, a Republican who takes office Monday, has made it clear he would veto the redistricting bill if it comes to him after Gilligan leaves office. Democrats lack big enough majorities in the Senate and House to override a veto.

The bill, by Rep. Vernon F. Cook, D-39 Cuyahoga Falls, and others, would shape districts throughout the state in a way that should allow Democrats to pick up at least three congressional seats in the 1976 elections.

It would place Republican incumbents in the same districts in three instances and create three new districts where no incumbent now resides.

Nine other Republican incumbents would find GOP strength weakened in their districts, although not appreciably in most cases.

Those Republicans who would find themselves pitted against each other if the bill is finally enacted over GOP protests and parliamentary strategy are:

Reps. Chalmers P. Wylie and Samuel Devine, both of Columbus, in a newly-drawn 15th District. There would be no incumbent residing in the new 12th District located north and west of Columbus.

Reps. Clarence J. Brown of Urbana and Tennyson Guyer of Findlay, in a new 7th District. No incumbent would be residing in a new 4th District north and northwest of Dayton.

Reps. Thomas N. Kindness, a first-term from Hamilton, and Rep. Charles W. Whalen of Dayton, in a new 8th District. There would be no incumbent in a new 3rd District, which comprises roughly the eastern half of Montgomery County.

Otherwise, the bill picks away at GOP strengths in scattered areas, and isolates Cincinnati's core city into a new 2nd District which should deprive Republicans of one of their two representatives in Hamilton County. It concedes traditional GOP Cincinnati suburbs in the outer areas of Hamilton in a revamped 1st District.

Americans Asked To 'Sacrifice' In Energy Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon says President Ford plans a new energy conservation program that "will necessarily mean a degree of personal sacrifice" by all Americans.

Saying a fresh administration energy-economic strategy would be "tough, comprehensive and effective," Simon also hinted Monday at tax cuts and additional help for the nation's unemployed. The Ford program is to be formally announced Jan. 20.

Simon said that despite the sacrifice which would be called for under the energy conservation measures, the President "is fully confident that the American people understand this need and are prepared to meet it."

Meanwhile, Ford's chief economist, Alan Greenspan, told a congressional panel that recovery from the current recession will take many months and is unlikely to reduce spiraling unemployment any time this year.

Greenspan, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, testified before the Joint Economic Committee that the country's jobless rate, now 7.1 per cent, probably would climb even higher this year.

Under questioning by the panel, he also said it is logical to assume that unemployment will not be reduced much below 6.5 per cent during 1976.

He said an anticipated turnaround in the depressed automobile and housing industries, along with depletion of industrial inventories, "should begin to lift total production ... during the second half of the year."

Simon, in a New Orleans speech to the American Farm Bureau Federation, said Ford's new economic program will put equal stress on anti-inflation measures and efforts to fight the recession.

On energy conservation, Simon ruled out fuel rationing but declined to provide details on the program which he said would require personal sacrifices.

The administration reportedly is considering a plan to discourage fuel consumption by raising the price of both domestic and imported oil by $3 a barrel, which might lead to a gasoline price hike of about 7.5 cents per gallon at the pump.

According to government sources, the massive additional tax and tariff revenues generated by the imposed oil price increase would somehow be returned to the public, perhaps through income tax cuts.

In other economic developments Monday: —President Ford's public rating on keeping the economy healthy is now 86-11 per cent negative, a new low for a chief executive in modern times, the Harris Poll reported.

—The U.S. automobile industry reported that Americans bought 23 per cent fewer cars last year than in 1973. The sales volume was the second worst performance in 11 years.

—Statistics released by the Federal Reserve Board showed that consumers cut back on their indebtedness by a record $402 million in November, reflecting a drastic drop in borrowing for new cars and personal loans. The figures gave further evidence of low consumer confidence in the economy's health.

Demos Push Partisan Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Democratic attempts to enact a package of partisan bills in the last days of the Gilligan administration cleared initial hurdles during marathon opening sessions of the 111th General Assembly Monday.

But minority Republicans in the Senate—where a crucial test of the Democrats' procedural moves will come later this week—served notice they may go to court in an effort to invalidate the legislation if it passes.

The fireworks started shortly after members of the House and Senate were sworn in during the afternoon, and continued until nearly midnight before Democrats were successful in getting their procedural rules adopted.

Republican Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland, set the stage for possible legal action with his formal protest of a key Senate rule circumventing a requirement for outgoing Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, a Republican, to sign the controversial legislation.

By a party line vote, Senate Democrats approved the new rule which permits the majority leader, Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, to sign bills in place of the lieutenant governor.

"This rule delegates to the president pro tem (majority leader) a power which the Senate cannot constitutionally confer on him," said Van Meter.

Ocasek and others discounted the Ashland Republican's claim, citing language they said permits bills to be signed by the "presiding officer." The majority leader presides in the Senate in the absence of the lieutenant governor.

Most important among a packet of six Democratic bills now introduced—three in each chamber—is a major proposal that would reshape Ohio's congressional districts to the advantage of the Democratic Party. It was introduced in the House by Rep. Vernon F. Cook, D-39 Cuyahoga Falls, and set for initial hearing Tuesday.

Democratic leaders hope to rush it and their other five pet measures through the legislature by Friday, so that lame duck Gov. John J. Gilligan can sign them into law before he gives way Monday to GOP Gov.-elect James A. Rhodes.

Rhodes would veto the bills, GOP spokesmen confirmed, and Democrats lack the three-fifths majorities in the two chambers needed to override vetoes.

Besides congressional redistricting, Democrats introduced in the House a pair of bills that would transfer collection of the state income tax from the Department of Taxation to the Democrat-held state treasurer's office, and prohibit Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, a Republican, from disapproving—without cause—nominees for appointment to county election boards.

The switch of the tax collection function, involving about 300 employees, would save the jobs of some 150 Gilligan administration employees not protected by civil service. Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, defended the change as needed because the treasurer's office already collects all other state taxes.

The three Democratic Senate bills are somewhat less controversial, although they do include another that apparently involves about 30 patronage jobs. It transfers the Consumer Protection Division of the Commerce Department to the office of Democratic Atty. Gen. William J. Brown.

Otherwise, the Senate bills provide for mail and door-to-door registration of voters—a move long opposed by Republicans who claim it would invite new types of voting fraud—and another to qualify Ohio for a federally-funded extension of unemployment compensation benefits from 26 to 39 weeks.

Included in the latter measure is a provision fought and defeated by Republicans at previous legislative sessions. It extends jobless pay to Ohio workers laid off as a result of a strike that occurs elsewhere, such as a plant that supplies parts and supplies for their employer.

Members poured a total of 50 bills into legislative hoppers during the first day, all but four of them in the House.

Government Gold Auction Proves Flop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's great gold auction was a flop in selling gold but it proved that Americans have kept their common sense, officials say.

"In the U.S. Treasury gold auction, demand was less than had generally been anticipated," said a Treasury Department statement Monday — and that was an understatement in itself.

Although the government was auctioning 2 million ounces of gold, it received bids on only 954,800 ounces and accepted bids for just 750,000 ounces.

In addition, it appeared that most of the gold was bought by foreign banks. The biggest bid was for about 400,000 ounces from the Dresdner Bank of New York, a subsidiary of a major West German bank.

Two Swiss banks also were among the major bidders. The complete list of successful bidders was to be made public today.

Except for bids from a few U.S. industries and banks, most bids from Americans were for a single 400-ounce bar of gold, the minimum amount being auctioned by the Treasury.

The minimum bid price accepted by the government was $153 an ounce, considerably below world market gold prices, although a few bids ranged as high as $185 an ounce.

The gold sold Monday will bring the government more than $100 million in revenue.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon expressed delight that Americans did not buy up all the gold at sharply higher prices.

"It once again proves that the American people are a good deal smarter than many people give them credit for," Simon said at a news conference.

Of the 219 valid bids received by the General Services Administration, 100 were accepted. The successful bidders will be able to pick up their gold at the U.S. Assay Office in New York or at U.S. mints in Denver and San Francisco, after paying the full amount of their bids.

Women Police Officers Fight Job Loss Due To Wage Costs

WESTPORT, Wash. (AP) — Confronted with having to pay policewomen the same as policemen, the mayor of this small coastal community took immediate action.

Bill Wade told the women to turn in their badges.

"My God, we can't even afford our male officers," Wade said. "If we had to pay equal salaries to the women, it would break the town."

The state Human Rights Commission told officials here they would be required to bring women officers up to salary levels of men.

So, the women are now civilian clerk-dispatchers.

"I'm going to fight this," said Nancy Breitsprecher, the most experienced officer, male or female, in the department. "I can't just sit and take it."

Mrs. Breitsprecher, 38, is one of five women on the force. She was also the senior sergeant in the department, and the second in command until last week.

Women until then composed half the town's police force. They handled dispatching duties, took "walk-in" complaints and conducted many of the department's routine crime investigations.

And says Mrs. Breitsprecher, "I have too many years invested in this force just to sit quietly and be stripped of my commission. If economy is needed, why didn't they start with the least senior man? Why just the women?"

Wade estimated equal salaries for the five women officers would cost Westport $1,000 more each month. And Wade said the town has trouble supporting the force now.

Mrs. Breitsprecher, who has been on the force almost six years, said her salary was only $575, while the top minimum for a male patrolman was $700 a month.

NEW YORK (AP) — Profit-taking after the sharp rally of the past week pushed stocks back a notch today in a session interrupted for 35 minutes because of computer trouble at the New York Stock Exchange.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 2.97 at 634.23, and losers outdistanced gainers by a 5-4 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers pointed out that it was natural for the market to encounter resistance after a rise as large as the 35-point jump in the Dow since the start of last week.

Pfizer was the most active NYSE issue, down 1 1/4 at 31. A 189,000-share block changed hands at 30 3/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index dropped .09 to 63.59.

Trading was halted on the Big Board between 10:15 a.m. EST and 10:50 a.m. because of the equipment malfunction. Similar interruptions occurred twice last year — for 26 minutes on April 10, and for 36 minutes Oct. 15.

The NYSE's noon composite common-stock index was down .25 at 37.37. Terra Chemicals International, the Amex volume leader, rose 1/8 to 12.

Commissioners Approve 1975 Budget

Pickaway County Commissioners Monday approved a budget of $4,134,946.06 for operating county government in 1975, an increase of $324,309.01 over the 1974 budget of $3,810,637.05.

The budget was approved Monday afternoon by Commissioners L. Robert Liston Jr. and Don Strous. The annual reorganization of the board of commissioners was delayed because the third member, Dick T. Tootle, had not returned Monday from a winter vacation.

Almost every department of county government received an increase in its budget this year with the notable exception of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Commissioners and Sheriff Dwight Radcliff were able to reduce the burden on local taxpayers from $219,840.25 last year to $200,676.21 this year through the use of federal revenue sharing funds.

Oil Workers Cut Demands

DENVER (AP) — Oil industry workers have reduced their wage demands as a midnight contract expiration nears.

The bargaining policy board of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union agreed to cut 30 cents an hour off the wage proposal in each of the three years of the proposed contract in a meeting late Monday.

Union President A. F. Grospron said he is authorized to call a strike when the current pact expires, "but I'm not in a hurry on this thing. It's very easy to call a strike."

Grospron said if a walkout is called it could be industrywide or against only a selected company.

An industrywide strike against oil companies would idle most of the nation's gasoline and petroleum product refineries. The union represents 60,000 oil workers.

The last industrywide strike was in 1969 and lasted for four months for some companies, but ended in 10 days for one company.

Grospron said that even if an industrywide walkout is called, current reserves of gasoline would keep the effect of the strike from being felt by consumers for at least 30 days.

The policy council reduced the wage demand from $1.50 an hour in each of the three years of a proposed contract to $1.20 an hour in each year. The union is still seeking an immediate 50-cent an hour increase as a "catch-up" to the rising cost of living. The average hourly wage in the industry under the current contract is $5.95.

There was no immediate response from the oil companies on the new union proposal, which a union spokesman said was made "in the hope of averting a strike in the oil industry and getting negotiations moving."

Grospron said the companies have offered a 60-cent per hour wage increase in the first year and 50 cents per hour in the second year of a two-year contract. He said the union will not accept a contract of less than three years.

A union spokesman said a cost-of-living clause sought by the union was also a contract obstacle. The union is seeking an escalator equal to the rise in the national price index. Grospron said the oil companies are opposed to a cost-of-living escalator.

The companies involved in the negotiations include Texaco, Gulf, Exxon, Shell, Atlantic-Richfield, Mobil, Phillips, Continental, the Standards and many small companies.

The International Harvester Company currently is holding a series of introductory meetings throughout the country for its national Outdoor Power Products marketing and sales organizations. The new products added to the IH Outdoor Power equipment line, Davie said, include six new International Cub Cadet lawn and garden tractors, known as "the quiet ones"; a rotary tiller for higher horsepower tractors; 54-inch front mounted blade; an 18.5 hp Cub Cadet LO-Boy tractor; three push mowers; three space heaters; a chipper-shredder; and a combination riding mower plus optional rear-mounted grass catcher with five bushel capacity. Earlier this year IH added a line of edgers and trimmers plus three new power washers.

Plans for distribution, parts, service, finance sales, promotion, and a national advertising program also were revealed at the regional meeting, Davie concluded.

Westfall Board Re-Elects Officers

At the annual organizational meeting, the Westfall Board of Education re-elected Mrs. Jeanne Lett president and Cooke Metzger vice-president. The board also established the third Monday of each month as the regular date for board meetings as was the regular date in years previous. The time and place was set at 8 p.m. in the board room at the high school building.

Approval was made on the temporary appropriation measure with the general operating fund set at $1,520,385.75.

The board also passed a resolution to renew its membership in the Ohio School Bords Association for 1975.

Board member David Long was appointed by the rest of the board members to serve as the board's representative to the Westfall Athletic Board for the calendar year 1975.

In other business, five students were approved for home instruction and two students were approved for enrollment and payment of tuition to attend special schools in the Columbus system.

Clinton Trapp and Mrs. Janice Ryan were employed as substitute bus drivers and Mrs. Joyce Kern was approved and employed as substitute secretary.

The board accepted the bids on package No. 2 for the new middle school. The hollow metal low bid was $15,450 submitted by the Architects Hardware Company of Columbus. The main electrical switchgear bid was awarded to Westinghouse in the amount of $7,503. Both bids were within the budget allowed for those items.

Local Superintendent Gordon Massie notified the board of a possible opening in the custodial staff.

Board approval was given to Superintendent Massie to attend the annual Local Superintendent Conference to be held in Columbus on Jan. 29 and 30.

Approval was also given to Mrs. Lett to attend the Ohio School Boards Association's presidents' workshop also to be held in Columbus on Jan. 31 and Feb. 1.

In final action, the board of education approved requests for personal leave and granted approval for band director James Kibby to attend the Ohio Music Educators Conference in Cincinnati on Feb. 6 and 7.

The next regular meeting of the board is 8 p.m. on Jan. 20. Westfall board members are Mrs. Lett, Metzger, Long, James Dean and Bruce Stevenson Jr.

Natural Gas Curbs Bared At Hearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A corporate officer of West Ohio Gas Co. testified Monday that industrial and commercial customers would have their natural gas fully curtailed before the company would cut supplies to residential customers.

Tom Newland, company treasurer, outlined the proposed emergency curtailment plan during a hearing before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Newland said the plan divides customers into industrial, large commercial, small commercial and residential categories.

Curtailments will start among industrial customers and move through large commercial and small commercial users before hitting the residential users, he said.

He said the curtailment plan is necessary because West Ohio faces a 40 per cent cutback from its supplier, Columbia Gas Transmission Co.

Two other Columbia customers, East Ohio Gas Co. and River Gas Co., also are having their curtailment plans heard before the PUCO. Hearings are expected to last through the week.

In opening statements Monday, food processors and industrial customers lined up to urge that the brunt of a natural gas supply cutback be imposed on others.

At the public hearing, which overflowed into hallways and an adjoining hearing room, the customers argued that their industry or field was too important to suffer a major cutback in natural gas supply.

Morris E. Allton, a vice president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, said cutbacks in the agricultural field would reduce production and hamper processing.

"Unless there is some re-allocation of supplies to the handlers of agriculture products, we are endangering the production of food and seriously affecting the cost to consumers," Allton said.

"If our dairy and vegetable processing plants are greatly curtailed in their capacity to process agriculture products, then farmers will be curtailed in the production from our farms that these plants will be able to handle," he said.

Spokesmen for individual hospitals and the Ohio Hospital Association said cutbacks to hospitals could endanger patients or run afoul of state or federal health laws.

State To Emphasize Highways

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Richard D. Jackson believes Ohio's transportation emphasis will continue to be on highways after he becomes director of the Ohio Department of Transportation on Jan. 13.

"Highways and the automobile have been the primary way to move people. It will continue," Jackson said in his Columbus Service Director's office.

Jackson said his primary task — aside from city duties — until the inauguration of James A. Rhodes as governor Jan. 13, is to fill some 50 vacancies in key administrative posts of the state department.

"I have a three-inch stack of applications and resumes," he said. "We will try to get the very best we can."

Jackson isn't new to the department but does have to become reacquainted with it.

He was named deputy director for Division 6 of the old state highway department in 1969 during Rhodes' last term.

He left the department after John J. Gilligan became governor and has served in his present job since 1972.

He said he is looking forward to the responsibilities of director and "putting together a group of competent, top echelon people to manage the department."

He said he has requested some information from the department, such as the new transportation master plan delivered to Gilligan last week. That plan outlines prior tax increase possibilities to finance highways and mass transit.

"We will get the information together and later we will take a look at policy," he said.

Jackson said he will review the status of highways statewide to determine what needs to be built.

Jackson said he takes pride in the state's fleet of aircraft and plans to maintain close liaison with local airports. He noted most airport funds come directly from the federal government and not through state government. "It has worked very good. There is no need to interrupt that," he said.

Jackson said there is no question that funds are needed for mass transit systems. But he added: "I am totally committed to the highway trust fund. It should not be used for other forms of transportation."

"If there are other funds, and there is no question of the need for funds in other forms of transportation, they should not come from the highway funds because there are not sufficient funds to do the highway job," Jackson said.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Can He Get To Heaven?

DEAR ABBY: Everybody has a problem. Here's one I've never seen in your column. It's my husband's.

Charley is an amputee who gets around quite well in his wheelchair, but his biggest problem is finding restrooms with doors that are wide enough to get his wheelchair through. Perhaps if you print this letter and the enclosed poem (author unknown), architects who design public buildings will be more considerate of folks in wheelchairs:

I burn the rubber off my wheels.
I can hardly wait;
My wheelchair's 30 inches wide,
The john is 28.
Some plead for civil justice when they are set upon.
I ask for just one freedom, the right to use the john.
I've thought about reforming and changing my evil ways;
To be a model of deportment for the remainder of my days.
But when I get to heaven and face the pearly gates,
St. Peter will say, "You're 30 inches wide.
Our gates are 28!"

AVON PARK, FLA.

DEAR FLA.: Thanks for combining a serious and worthwhile thought with a bit of humor. I've found that those who have the most to gripe about are the first to see the humor in a difficult situation.

DEAR ABBY: I was shocked to discover that even you believe that being single makes a woman a second class citizen.

You told "No words" that the most generous thing she could do for her best friend's daughter, who shocked everyone by coming home with a small child after her promising marriage failed, would be to introduce the divorcee to some eligible bachelor, and keep her socially active. How disgusting!

It sounds as though you are trying to get some homely wallflower out of the closet.

Abby, being single is not a disgrace or some horrible defect that needs to be immediately corrected.

SINGLE AND SECURE

DEAR SINGLE: Granted, not all divorcees want another marriage, but I still think that MOST divorcees would welcome an opportunity to meet eligible bachelors and become socially active again. And those who don't can always decline.

Ice Cap Dam

Weather patterns historically change very slowly—so slowly they usually are measured by centuries. It is sometimes difficult to know when a change has occurred and how long it will last. Weather scientists generally are in accord that colder weather patterns, perhaps leading to a new Ice Age, have been forming since about the 15th century.

For about 50 years beginning 1890, a warming trend set in and it was noted that food supplies became more abundant and populations grew more rapidly. Now the world tendency is toward cooler weather again.

To control this pattern, and in particular to prevent the disaster of a new Ice Age, several scientists in recent years have proposed damming the Bering Strait between Siberia and Alaska to control the flow of warm and cold water currents and regulate the Earth's climate.

Among advantages suggested by scientists would be the elimination of desert regions and the creation of more favorable conditions for growing food. So far the government will not accept the concept because no one can predict what climate changes might result.

With major food problems becoming a constant world problem, the idea of placing a thermostat on the ice cap to produce ideal growing conditions will retain its interest for many.

Happy Birthday

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Add one more to the 1,234,567,890 worthy causes that need a little dough to launch them off their pads. It is the Share Your Birthday Foundation, a tax-exempt, non-profit, non-governmental organization whose aim is to build goodwill and even lasting ties between school children in this country and kids in other nations.

Simple as that. If developed to the nth degree the movement would end all wars. Friendships developed as children would prevail in face of the wicked machinations of their elders to send them into conflict, once mature. But the Foundation, like so many other good works, will collapse in 1975 unless it can raise about $25,000 — approximately the cost of a windshield wiper for the new B-1, or a Congressman's newsletter to his constituents telling them how much he enjoyed the Super Bowl game.

The Foundation was formed in the wake of World War II by a gentle lady, Mrs. Ira J. Heller, in gentle Philadelphia. It encouraged American children to give up one of their birthday presents to children of like ages in foreign lands. To each gift was attached a letter and photograph. The mechanics of the transfer were attended to by schools and, where available, consulates. One of the earlier prime movers was (and remains) Gen. Carlos Romulo of the Philippines.

The American gifts were assembled for a year, then shipped to a specified country where they were distributed by a chosen kid "ambassador" from the selected land, plus toys, pictures, letters.

Things went well for years: Jean LeGendre, mayor of Compiegne, France: "It is more than a gift. It is a gesture of solidarity, done with such simplicity that it goes straight to the heart."

U.S. Embassy, Rome, to State Department: "Philadelphia's child ambassador distributing children's gifts gets Papal, ambassadorial, mayoral receptions; heavy press play and public acclaim. Received officially in Rome, Naples, Florence and Biella."

U.S. Embassy, Athens, to State Department: "Greek reaction was so favorable that we believe similar projects would be successful in other countries. The program was covered by the Greek government newsreel and the film shown in four Athens theaters. . . . Cannot think of any other comparable subject which has received more favorable attention."

"A novel yet effective way of building and enhancing international friendship," Gen Romulo stressed.

Mrs. Heller, who would sooner volunteer to be shot to Saturn than ask a friend for a dime, depended on her husband and a few close friends to pick up the Foundation's modest tab. But Mr. Heller died five years ago, and the coffers are empty.

Two other senior citizens have offered their help in the hope of keeping the project alive. They are Lawrence G. Derthick Sr., former commissioner of education in the Eisenhower Administration, and Dr. Forrest Conner, once the superintendent of schools in St. Paul, Minn. Both are past presidents of the American Association of School Administrators.

"Neither of us has had experience in funding private eleemosynary enterprises," Mr. Derthick wrote recently. "Yet we are the only ones now active in the funding aspects of what undoubtedly is the last effort to save a fine program which has

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "Social Security is basically sound, the administration of it is first class, it is efficient," said J. Henry Smith, a member of the government's Advisory Council on Social Security. "I think they do a fine job."

Smith also is chairman of Equitable Life Assurance Society, one of the largest companies in the life-health insurance industry, which in decades past sometimes was highly critical of the Social Security concept.

Disputing critics who insist the disability and retirement insurance program is financially unstable, Smith maintained in an interview that the possibility of bankruptcy was so slim as to barely exist.

"Social Security is just as secure as Congress wants to make it," he said. "If Congress doesn't provide the funds it isn't secure. But Congress will provide the money, so the public has little to be concerned about."

Recognizing that if benefits are to be increased so must revenues, the advisory council is expected late this month or early in February to recommend a sharp increase in the maximum taxable wage base to $24,400 from $14,100.

If Congress accepts the recommendation it would mean 93 per cent of American workers would have taxes withheld from incomes throughout the year. That is, 93 per cent earn $24,000 or less a year.

While this probably is the major recommendation that will appear in the council's report, it was not unanimously accepted by all 13 members.

Smith disagrees with it because, in his opinion, it violates the original spirit of Social Security, in which the program was to be the middle of a threepart system, with welfare at the bottom and private supplemental insurance at the top.

everything going for it but money. Dr. Conner and I have been contributing funds personally to 'keep the doors open.' However, being retired, though very active, giving most of our time to our profession and other causes without fees, we cannot continue at the present rate to meet these emergency expenses."

School officials, parents and children in Great Britain, Egypt, Israel, Norway, India and the Philippines have asked to be included in the Foundations program. But the Foundation first needs a foundation, Mr. Derthick writes from his home at 121 North Washington Street, Alexandria, Va. 22314.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Every winter my daughter has an attack of mononucleosis. Is there any way that this can be prevented?

Mrs. G. B., Ohio

Dear Mrs. B.: I doubt that your daughter has had repeated bouts of this condition.

It is very rare for infectious mononucleosis — positively diagnosed by blood studies — to occur more than once in the same individual.

Many people feel that a common cold is given added distinction if it has the title of "mono" even in the absence of positive verification.

A special test, known as the "heterophile test," is the positive way to definitely diagnose this illness. Cells in the blood, known as lymphocytes, are found in preponderance with an acute attack.

I'm ashamed to discuss this problem with my doctor. I have severe itching in my crotch area. It keeps me up at night and keeps me from sleeping. Do you have any suggestion?

Mrs. B.S.N., N.M.

Study Of Ice Ages Helps Predict World Food Supply

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A study of the ice ages may help scientists learn to predict world food supplies of the future, a meteorologist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology says.

Scientists may be able to anticipate the smaller climatic changes that can decrease harvests and bring famine if they can learn what causes ice ages, says Professor Reginald E. Newell.

Newell outlined his theory in an article in the December issue of Technology Review, the MIT journal of science.

He suggested that recent price increases for wheat and soybeans, as well as the drought in the African Sahel, can be traced to climatic changes that could be predictable.

Sooner or later, long-range weather forecasting should become sophisticated enough to predict the changes that affect world food supplies, he said in an interview. He said it may take 20 years.

The current high price of wheat can be traced to changes in the atmospheric flow patterns over the

Tax Slash Gaining Supporters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposals for a tax cut to help revive the economy have picked up three more congressional supporters, including Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott.

"If we lost $20 billion through a tax reduction, we can recoup $12 billion to $15 billion by other taxes," Scott said Sunday on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind., chief deputy majority whip in the House, said a tax cut is a major ingredient of the Democratic program being prepared for the 94th Congress, beginning Jan. 14.

The package also includes measures to ease the flow of credit for housing, a further increase in public service jobs and a "wage-price mechanism" to curb inflation, Brademas said on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Also calling for a tax cut was Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., who suggested a reduction of $10 billion, designed particularly to relieve low and moderate income families. In addition, he suggested a $225 credit for all taxpayers or a reduction in payroll taxes for social security.

Reuss, appearing on CBS' "Face the Nation," joined Brademas in calling for general tax reform. Reuss also urged creation of an "administrative agency" to stop and roll back price increases.

Dear Mrs. N.: Itching around the anal region or the vaginal area is not a problem to be ashamed of. The skin in this area is moist and warm. Consequently, breaks in the skin may start the invasion of bacteria. Allergic reactions are common in this area, too. People who are sensitive to antibiotics may develop a fungus infection which would account for itching.

Intestinal parasites (yes, they do occur in adults in all social levels) can be responsible.

It is obvious that before any attempt at treatment is made, the exact cause must be established. Once the reason for itching, or "pruritus," is determined the condition can be cleared up.

Far too many people delay going to see a doctor because they are "ashamed" to reveal problems associated with intimate parts of the body.

This is naive and can only lead to complications of conditions that are simple in their early phases.

Soviet Union in 1971 and 1972, he wrote. Crop failures followed. Then came the huge Soviet grain deal with the United States and a worldwide increase in the price of wheat.

He said the price of soybeans rose when temperature changes in the waters off Peru reduced the catch of anchovies, a prime source of fish meal. The result was a price increase in soybeans, the most common substitute for fish meal.

The African drought, in which thousands have died of starvation, was the result of shifts in the movements of the tropical rain belt. He said men might some day be able to prepare for such shifts.

He said that in an effort to learn the secrets of climatic shifts, some scientists have been studying the movements of beetles. Newell said beetles "can run and fly considerable distances and can follow temperature changes quite rapidly."

A comparison of the habitats of beetle species today with those of their fossilized ancestors can tell scientists of temperature shifts that have taken place, Newell said.

Refinements of those methods of study may some day be applied to short-term climatic changes, Newell said.

Auto Sales Decline Unabated

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's auto makers report today on December sales figures and year-end totals.

Industry observers predicted deliveries would be off as much as they were during the previous three months, when sales dropped about 30 per cent from year-earlier levels.

Today also marked the beginning of the first full production week of 1975. The industry has been all but shut down for the Christmas-New Year's holiday.

Sales for last month were expected to be sharply below those in December 1973. That performance was seen as painful because sales in the final month of 1973 already had begun to plummet in the face of the energy crisis and consumer fears over fuel shortages.

The auto companies noted early this year that sales for all of 1973 were at record levels, making it difficult for 1974 figures to compare favorably.

Domestic sales for 1974 are now estimated to be about 7.5 million, a 23 per cent drop from the 9.3 million units that left dealer showrooms the year before.

It would be the industry's worst performance since 1970, when domestic deliveries totaled 7.15 million cars.

Ex-Senator Wheeler Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Burton K. Wheeler, one of the most powerful isolationists in the Senate before World War II, is dead at 92.

The Montana Democrat, a veteran of four Senate terms, died at his home Monday night after an apparent stroke, according to a son. Wheeler remained active as a partner in a Washington law firm with his son and was in the office the day he died.

In the 1930s Wheeler was one of the leading voices against U.S. involvement in Europe. His support of the isolationist position earned a charge from President Franklin D. Roosevelt that he had committed "near treason."

Wheeler was first elected to the Senate in 1922 and attracted attention in his first term as a participant in the investigation that exposed the Teapot Dome scandal. The investigation indicated the secretary of the Interior leased oil reserves to private oil firms and allegedly received $400,000 for it.

In 1946, after the war, Wheeler's isolationist stand caused him to lose his Senate seat.

Despite his disagreements with Roosevelt, Wheeler later rated him as the most outstanding of modern presidents.

Man Given Death Penalty

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Nineteen-year-old Robert Paul Lytle of Akron was sentenced to death Monday after being convicted of aggravated murder by a Greene County Common Pleas Court jury in November.

Lytle was found guilty of the aggravated murder of Wallace Robert Archibold, a 44-year-old computer technician at the nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Archibold was found dead on a county road Aug. 24, 1974.

Lytle was sentenced to die May 20. He has the opportunity to appeal.

Charles White, 18, of Roseville, has been sentenced to life in prison on a related charge. David Arrowsmith, 19, of Xenia, is awaiting trial in the murder.

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Students returned to Canton McKinley High School on Monday following a $1 million fire a week and a half earlier.

When the school reopened, students were brought into an assembly to hear about increased security measures. Guards will not patrol the school 24 hours a day.

Arson has been suspected in the blaze which caused heavy damage to several offices and classrooms.

Auto Sales Drop By 23 Per Cent

DETROIT (AP) — Americans bought 23 per cent fewer cars in 1974 than in 1973 as the nation's troubled auto industry recorded its second worst performance in 11 years.

December sales reported Monday fell 25 per cent from the same month a year previous and cast doubt on prospects for recovery in 1975.

The latest decline was further bad news for the auto companies, wallowing in their longest slump since World War II. And it was disheartening word for thousands of auto workers who face continued and perhaps more sweeping layoffs if sales continue to decline.

December was the 15th consecutive month in which sales have dropped below year-earlier levels. The auto companies have responded with massive production cutbacks.

Some 280,000 workers — 40 per cent of the industry's hourly workforce of 678,000 — face layoffs this month as the companies close plants to reduce growing inventories of unsold new cars.

Domestic sales by the four major U.S. companies in 1974 were 7,448,921, compared with a record 9.7 million in 1973. It was the lowest total for the industry since 1963, with the exception of 1970, when a nationwide strike against GM held sales to 7.15 million.

December sales of 429,198, down from 573,730 in December 1973, were the lowest for that month in 15 years, with the exception of 1970.

Including imports, 1974 sales were 8,856,448, off 23 per cent from 1973's record of 11,435,989 and far short of the 10 million-10.5 million new car sales that industry leaders had forecast a year ago.

General Motors Vice President Mack Worden predicted an upswing in sales this year "if consumer uncertainties can be significantly reduced...."

Ford Motor Co. Chairman Henry Ford II, however, has forecast a weaker sales year in 1975. He warned that the industry, already mired in a deepening recession, is headed for a depression unless stronger economic measures are adopted in Washington.

Other auto spokesmen predicted that the sales slump — triggered first by energy shortages, then inflation, higher new car prices and nationwide recession — may have bottomed out.

But they added that new rounds of plant closings and layoffs could be expected if there isn't an immediate turnaround in the market.

New car prices have gone up an average $1,000 since December 1973, with the auto makers blaming inflation, but they have refused to cut prices in the face of declining sales. They say the problem is a lack of consumer confidence in the economy, not resistance to high price tags.

Gilligan Sets Talk Tonight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Outgoing Gov. John J. Gilligan appears before a joint session of the Ohio General Assembly tonight to deliver his fifth "state of the state" message since becoming governor in January, 1971.

Aides said Gilligan will include a review of the accomplishments of his administration, and recommend certain programs and funding for next two-year state bookkeeping period, scheduled for 7 p.m.

Gilligan reportedly will call for a biennial budget of about $11 billion, based on increased revenue estimates for 1975-1977 of about $900 million.

The last budget was $10.1 billion. The new budget is not expected to recommend any substantial tax increases, aides said.

Republican Gov.-elect James A. Rhodes, who returns to the governor's office Monday after serving two previous terms and sitting out the Gilligan years, is expected to deliver his "state of the state" message and budget recommendations to lawmakers in March.

Farm Report Decade Late

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 126-page report was routinely handed to newsmen Monday at the Agriculture Department, nearly a decade late.

The report included the proceedings of a seminar on the market development and promotion of farm products. The conference was held June 21-25, 1965, at the University of California, Berkely.

Joseph T. McDavid, the department's press chief, said he did not notice the date of the report before it was distributed. He said four copies were sent to his office in an official government messenger's envelope with no return address. The report was published by the department's Economic Research Service.

LONG LINE, LONG WAIT—The unemployed jam a Michigan Employment Security Commission office in Detroit as they await unemployment compensation. Heavy layoffs in the auto industry account for a boost in the number of unemployed by 560,000 to 6.5 million in December, 1974, according to U.S. Labor officials, and the unemployment rate has soared to 7.1 per cent, the highest in 13 years.

Pickaway SWCD Establishes Priorities For 1975

The Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District Monday established educating rural and urban citizens on the impact of proposed Environmental Protection Assn. regulations.

These important proposed regulations will police pollution of streams from soil runoff, fertilizers, herbicides, pesticides, animal wastes and air pollution caused by agricultural practices.

Paul Hoskins, Soil Conservation Service area 5 representative attending the Monday planning session held at the Pickaway Farm Bureau office on Route 23 South, said the local soil and water conservation districts will implement the proposed regulations.

He said the board of supervisors of the Pickaway SWCD should begin making plans to add two more persons to the local staff to handle the additional work load. One of the staffers will inspect urban construction sites and the other to inspect agricultural practices. Salaries of the additional SWCD employees will be paid by the state.

Hoskins pointed out that the Soil Conservation Service worked hard to have the program implemented through the local SWCD's because they already have the agricultural expertise to administer it.

Other priorities established included establishing land laboratories at all county schools, installation and maintenance of farm drainage systems and the addition of "associate members" to the district's board of supervisors.

Hoskins said the land laboratories could be established at little or no cost to the local school districts if they had the land available. However, the Pickaway SWCD has been unable to interest the schools in such a laboratory.

Circleville High School in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service has established such a land lab.

In setting the maintenance of farm drainage systems high on the list of priorities, SCS conservationist Don Archer said it made little sense to spend $300 or more an acre tiling land and then not keeping the system functioning properly.

The association memberships to the board were explained by Hoskins. These memberships could take some of the work load from regular supervisors.

David Bolender, chairman of the board of supervisors, named the following committees:

Legislative — Chaney Vance, chairman; Richard Gerhardt, Robert

Navy Ships Leave Port

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department early today said the carrier Enterprise and a group of escorting ships had sailed from a U.S. Navy base in the Philippines but that the ships' destination was not the South Vietnamese coast.

The ships sailed from their base at Subic Bay on Bataan and were headed in a southwesterly direction, according to Maj. Gen. Winant Sidle, a top Pentagon spokesman. The South Vietnamese Coast is directly west of the ships' home port.

"It's not true that any naval task force is going into South Vietnamese waters," Sidle said referring to news reports that the ships were headed for South Vietnam.

South Vietnamese armed forces suffered serious defeats at the hands of Communist forces earlier today.

Sidle declined to identify the ships' destination on the ground that Defense Department policy forbids the announcement of fleet movements.

In Saigon, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said he knew nothing about the report that a fleet was headed for Vietnamese waters. In Manila, a U.S. military spokesman had no comment on the report.

Claim Brezhnev Battles Leukemia

CHICAGO (AP) — Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev is suffering from leukemia, and his recent cancellation of a trip to Egypt indicates the "sad necessity to contend with the progressive ravages" of the disease, the Chicago Sun Times has reported.

Columnist Charles Bartlett said Sunday his information that Brezhnev has the disease was confirmed. His column did not indicate confirmation by Soviet authorities or how seriously ill Brezhnev is.

On Friday, there were unconfirmed rumors in Moscow's foreign colony that Brezhnev is ill. Soviet officials would not talk.

In Saturday's article, Bartlett said Soviet spokesman have attributed Brezhnev's recent absences from the scene "to the flu because the knowledge that he suffers from a far more relentless affliction has been closely held."

A command spokesman said radio contact was lost with government forces in and around Phuoc Binh at 9:30 a.m. following a night-long assault by some 6,000 North Vietnamese infantrymen backed by tanks and an artillery barrage of several thousand rounds.

Military officials said small units of South Vietnamese rangers were trying to fight their way out of the provincial capital near the Cambodian border 75 miles north of Saigon.

Phuoc Binh City, called Song Be by the Americans when troops of the 1st Air Cavalry Division were stationed there, is the second of South Vietnam's 44 provincial capitals lost to the Communists in all the years of warfare in South Vietnam and the first to fall since the North Vietnamese overran Quang Tri City, capital of the country's northernmost province, during the 1972 Easter offensive. South Vietnamese forces recaptured Quang Tri City four months later.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, Saigon's chief military spokesman, said casualties were heavy among Phuoc Binh's government garrison of 2,500 to 3,000 men and among the 26,000 civilians in the city, half of them refugees from the Communist advance. Hien said, however, that he had no firm casualty figures.

There was also no estimate of North Vietnamese casualties.

The other position lost today was the Nui Ba Den (Black Virgin Mountain) base overlooking Tay Ninh City, like Phuoc Binh also once defended by U.S. troops. Hien's deputy, Lt. Col. Do Viet, reported that about 100 government troops retreated from the base after a heavy shelling attack.

The break in the winter weather was to be short, however, as a winter storm moved out of the west today and into the mid Great Lakes and the mid Ohio Valley on Wednesday.

Clouds were expected in the western counties by late this afternoon or evening. Some rain was expected in the southwest and snow in the northwest as temperatures drop into the 20s and 30s tonight. By Wednesday, rain and snow are to continue across all of Ohio as afternoon temperatures climb only into the 30s and 40s.

Morning temperatures today warmed up into the 30s as a high pressure ridge moved through Ohio last night and skies began to clear in the southwest. Some very light drizzle and light showers were reported in the eastern counties during the night and this morning.

Indiana Reigns Atop Cage Poll

By ALEX SACHARE

AP Sports Writer

Boyish-faced Bobby Knight, the fiery competitor who made aggressive nose-to-nose defense his coaching trademark, has guided Indiana to the top of the college basketball world.

The unbeaten Hoosiers, who won their 13th game of the season Monday night, are ranked No. 1 in this week's Associated Press college basketball poll, announced today.

It marks the culmination of an effort begun four years ago by Knight, when he left the head coaching job at Army to take the post at Indiana.

The Hoosiers, rated No. 2 last week, took over the top rung on the ladder from defending national champion North Carolina State, which was upset by Wake Forest 83-78 Friday night.

Indiana received 36 first-place votes and a total of 1,020 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Second was undefeated UCLA, which drew 14 top votes and 988 points. Louisville, another unbeaten club, received the remaining two first-place votes and 776 points, good for third place over N.C. State, which got 762 points.

Each of the three unbeaten climbed one notch from last week. Balloting is based on games played through last Saturday, and at that time Indiana was 12-0, UCLA 10-0, Louisville 8-0 and N.C. State 9-1.

Maryland, 9-1, grabbed fifth place with 556 points, up from seventh after a week in which the Terps beat rugged Notre Dame. Southern California, 10-1, which lost to Fordham in the final of the ECAC Holiday Festival, dropped one spot to sixth with 502 points.

Kentucky, 8-1, climbed two spots to seventh with 479 points; Alabama, 7-1, dropped two notches to eighth with 429; Oregon, 9-0, climbed two places to ninth with 425, and Arizona, 10-1, rounded out the top ten with 221 points, up from 14th place a week ago.

Indiana took the championship of the Rainbow Classic by beating Hawaii 69-52 last Monday, then beat Michigan State 107-55 in the game in which 10 black Michigan State players did not participate. The Hoosiers made it 13-0 by whipping Michigan 90-76 Monday night.

The Hoosiers were co-champions of the Big Ten last year when they compiled a 23-5 record, won the Collegiate Commissioners Association tourney and were rated ninth in last year's final AP poll.

Indiana is led by forwards Steve Green and Scott May, sophomore center Kent Benson and guard Quinn Buckner, who gave up football this fall to concentrate on basketball. Knight has also made ample use of his bench, often getting a dozen or more players into a game, and John Laskowski has earned a reputation as a super-sub for his efforts off the bench.

Michigan, 9-1, placed 11th in this week's poll with 206 points, followed by Arizona State, 11-1, 171; Marquette, 6-2, 150; LaSalle, 10-1, 93; North Carolina, 5-3, 70; South Carolina, 6-3, 66; Minnesota, 9-1, 36; Tennessee, 7-1, 26, and Providence and Wake Forest, each 7-3, tied for 19th with 24 points.

Michigan State Trips OSU Cagers

By ALEX SACHARE

AP Sports Writer

"We wanted to show the fans — we wanted to play basketball for Michigan State. We can play spirited basketball ... when we play, but not when we walk out."

Gus Ganakas, the basketball coach at Michigan State who has been at the center of a raging controversy for the past week, had plenty reason to be elated.

His team, bolstered by the return of 10 black players who had walked out before Saturday's 107-55 drubbing at the hands of Indiana, came up with a solid effort and beat Ohio State 88-84 Monday night for their first Big Ten victory of the season.

Lindsay Hairston, who led Saturday's walkout, topped the Spartans with 26 points, Terry Furlow added 19 and Pete Davis had 12.

The victory, after two losses in Big Ten play, apparently quelled dissension that hit the team Saturday, when all 10 black players walked out of a meeting and were suspended.

"Tonight I locked the doors of the dressing room before I announced the starting lineups," said Ganakas with a smile.

Freshman forward Jeff Tropf, the unwitting cause of the walkout when Ganakas announced that he planned to start him against Indiana, received a rousing ovation from the home crowd with every effort. He wound up with six points and 11 rebounds.

After a meeting Sunday morning, the players were reinstated and Ganakas called it "just a misunderstanding."

Ohio Teams In Cage Action

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — "Tonight I locked the doors of the dressing room before I announced the lineups," Michigan State basketball coach Gus Ganakas said with a broad grin.

Simply as that, Ganakas sloughed off the weekend player revolt that shook the MSU squad.

Only a few jeers from the crowd were left to remind the Spartans of that little unpleasantness as they put up a solid team performance to beat Ohio State, 88-84, in Big Ten conference play Monday night.

The game took place only about 24 hours after Ganakas publicly announced the reinstatement of 10 black varsity players who he suspended indefinitely Saturday prior to a match with No. 2-ranked Indiana.

"The problem is rectified between the coach and the players, Ganakas said after the victory over Ohio State.

Cleveland Indians Fill Coaching Slots

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Cleveland Indians has completed selection of its coaching staff with appointment of Dave Garcia and Tom McCraw, Tribe General Manager Phil Seghi announced Monday.

Garcia, 54, won the Texas League's Western Division title last year as manager of the California Angels' El Paso farm team.

Ali Eyes Battle With Chuck Wepner

NEW YORK (AP)—Chuck Wepner, a liquor salesman from Bayonne, N.J., is expected to fight for the heavyweight championship of the world against Muhammad Ali in Jamaica in late March.

Mike Burke, president of Madison Square Garden Center, said Monday that Ali's manager, Herbert Muhammad, "called me this morning and said that he had decided to cancel the Lyle fight and expected to take a fight with Wepner in Jamaica."

Felix Millan hit in 14 straight National League games for the New York Mets last summer.

The Spartans, 7-3, jumped to a 50-36 halftime lead and held off a Buckeye comeback which closed the margin to two points late in the game.

"The whole first half was one of the best performances we ever had," Ganakas said. "No matter who we put out there, they blended well together."

One team which has had no trouble with togetherness is Indiana, which has been together enough to move into the top spot in the national rankings this week and which raised its season record to 13-0 by whipping Michigan 90-76 in a matchup of last year's Big Ten co-champions Monday night.

The Hoosiers shot a stunning 61.8 percent from the field, the second best mark in the school's history. The only better shooting game was a 63.3 effort against Ohio State in 1959.

Forward Steve Green scored 26 points for the Hoosiers, including 20 in the second half. Scott May added 20 and reserve John Laskowski netted 19. Green sank 10 of 13 from the field, Laskowski seven of 10.

Elsewhere among the top 20, No. 7 Kentucky tripped Georgia 96-77, No. 8 Alabama got by No. 18 Tennessee 82-78, No. 10 Arizona edged Northern Arizona 78-77, No. 13 Marquette defeated San Diego State 58-54, No. 16 South Carolina beat Fordham 94-67 and No. 17 Minnesota trounced Illinois 75-47.

Bob Guyette hit three consecutive inside shots midway through the second half to lead Kentucky, 9-1, past Southeastern Conference rival Georgia.

Georgia led until Guyette's tip-in with 11:27 remaining put Kentucky ahead 60-59. Guyette then tapped in another shot and hit a layup to give the Wildcats a 64-60 advantage, and Georgia scored only four points during the next five minutes as the Wildcats rolled ahead 82-64.

Kevin Grevey of Kentucky led all scorers with 32 points, 18 in the second half. Guyette added 19.

Charles Russell scored a season-high 28 points to help Alabama, 8-1, beat Tennessee in another Southeastern Conference game. The Vols dropped to 7-2.

Freshman Bernard King hit for 30 points for Tennessee and Ernie Grunfeld dropped in 28.

Bob Elliott scored 22 points and Arizona held off a late Northern Arizona rally.

Arizona fell behind 45-35 early in the second half, but tied the score at 57-57. Arizona pulled ahead for the first time when Gilbert Myles stole the ball and scored on a layup. Northern Arizona tied it on a long jumper by David Hillman, but Elliott made a free throw 15 seconds later to put the Wildcats out in front to stay 60-59.

In other major games, Purdue beat Iowa 63-54, Niagara nipped DePaul 64-63, Illinois State outscored Oral Roberts 107-98, Kansas defeated St. Louis 79-72, Houston edged Dayton 86-85, Duquesne downed Canisius 84-74, UT-Chattanooga outran Western Florida 133-100, Jacksonville defeated Georgia Southern 94-78, Vanderbilt topped Mississippi State 96-85 and Hawaii beat Grambling 106-94.

In the first round of the Senior Bowl, Texas beat Louisiana Tech 81-68 and South Alabama topped Virginia Military. In the opening round of the Hatter Classic, American U. defeated produced. But the fans cheered their team with enthusiasm thereafter.

Except for Tropf, all members of the MSU team sounded jubilant after the game.

"We've come of age, coach," said Peter Davis, a guard who was suspended, as he left the dressing room after the game.

"We were jelling anyway as a team, but the stuff over the weekend just hurried it up," said the 6-foot-1 senior guard.

In other Ohio college basketball action freshman Tony Smith hit an eight-foot jump shot with 14 seconds remaining Monday night, giving Houston an 86-85 college basketball victory over Dayton.

Dayton had a chance to win the game, but a 20-foot shot by Leighton Moulton with four seconds left missed and Houston got the rebound as time ran out.

Dayton led 85-84 with 45 seconds left and Joe Fisher had a chance to pad the lead for the Flyers on a one-and-one free throw situation.

Fisher missed the first one, and Houston rebounded and ran down the clock until Smith hit his jumper, putting the Cougars ahead. He was fouled on the layup but missed the free throw.

Dayton was awarded the ball when it went out of bounds in the scramble for the rebound and the Flyers worked the ball down for Moulton's shot that bounced high off the rim.

Otis Birdsong of Houston led all scorers with 30 points, followed by teammate Louis Dunbar with 29. Johnny Davis had 24 for Dayton and Allen Elijah added 21 for the Flyers.

Dayton led by six points a couple of times in the second half while Houston held an 11-point first-half lead en route to a 47-41 edge at intermission.

Houston hiked its season mark to 4-6 with the victory, while Dayton fell to 6-5.

Elsewhere Central State downed Rio Grande 81-76 for its sixth victory in eight games behind Kenny Smith's 22 points and 21 by James Crawford. Rio Grande, falling to a 2-5 record, was led by Jimmy Noe and Jim Stewart with 18 and 17 points, respectively.

Center Fletcher Yates' gamehigh 38 points led Wilmington to an easy 95-67 triumph over Cedarville.

Southern Mississippi 83-76 and Stetson tripped Lehigh 72-57.

Kentucky State, the nation's top-ranked college division team, battled back from a sixpoint halftime deficit to defeat Wabash 78-69 behind Gerald Cunningham's 26 points.

Ken Stabler, Joe Greene Top Players

NEW YORK (AP) — Oakland quarterback Ken Stabler and Mean Joe Greene, defensive tackle of the Pittsburgh Steelers, were named the National Football League's top players by The Associated Press today.

A nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters chose Stabler the Offensive Player of the Year, and gave defensive honors to Greene based on their performances during the 1974 NFL regular season.

Stabler, a left-hander, led the Raiders to the American Conference West Division championship. He passed for 2,469 yards and a league-leading 26 touchdowns, completing 57.4 per cent of his attempts.

It was Stabler's last-minute scoring pass that gave Oakland its first-round playoff victory and eliminated defending champion Miami. A week later, the Raiders were knocked off by Greene and the Steelers in the American Conference championship game.

Greene, long the menace of opposing quarterbacks, threw passers for losses eight times during the regular season, leading the Steelers to a leaguehigh 52 sacks. He helped Pittsburgh compile the best defensive statistics in the AFC — a yield of only 219.6 yards per game.

His selection marked the second time Greene has been named the top defensive performer. He also was chosen by the AP panel in 1972.

Stabler was a heavy pick in the voting with 29 votes, easily outdistancing Denver's Otis Armstrong, the NFL rushing champion, who had 14 votes, and running back Terry Metcalf of the St. Louis Cardinals, who had 12. Last year's Offensive Player of the Year was Buffalo's O.J. Simpson, who received just one vote in this year's balloting.

Voting for defensive honors was much closer. Greene won it with 13 votes, barely topping Philadelphia linebacker Bill Bergey, who had 11. Also making strong showings were linebacker Ted Hendricks of Green Bay with seven votes, tackle Alan Page of Minnesota and cornerback Emmitt Thomas of Kansas City with six each, and Greene's Pittsburgh teammate, L.C. Greenwood, with five. Miami safety Dick Anderson, last year's winner, had just one vote this season.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You should delight in the many opportunities to better your knowledge and understanding now. Both will help you in making plans for the immediate present and the future.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Under the influence of strongly favorable planets, you should be able to capitalize on your talents, increase your holdings and win hitherto unattainable recognition. WORK AT IT!

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Some unusual situations indicated, extraordinary persons with whom to deal. Use the Geminian's ingenuity and ability to profit by experience in coping.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Lunar influences stimulate your self-reliance and general ability. You will feel active and enterprising, but make no changes in matters now running smoothly.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Intuition, reflexes, the germination of new ideas stimulated now. Do not take on too much, however, or you could make errors through haste.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A top day for displaying your canny sense of timing and ability to cut deadwood from your schedule. Some new opportunities in the offing.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Present velocity of action and its direction should lead you to study needs more closely, to determine anew your course and conduct. Avoid a tendency to procrastinate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A better-than-average day if YOU remain firm and in the driver's seat — where the Scorpion really belongs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): This day should bring rewards for past efforts even if you seem to lack the initiative to start new undertakings. If expanding operations, however, move with caution.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): An average day, yet some new opportunities for furthering success will be offered — some hidden, some fairly clear. Listen and look carefully.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You will have more than a few chances to display your ingenuity and enterprise now. But how you manage and play the game will count heavily.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): For your own benefit and the edification of others, bring to light one of your lesser known talents and capitalize on it. This day calls for ACTION — for which it will pay handsomely.

YOU BORN TODAY: Independence, energy, progressiveness and practicality are your most outstanding qualities. You are endowed with a fine intellect and a keen wit which, unfortunately, you sometimes use too sharply, blighting others with biting sarcasm. Try to curb this trait, since it alienates those who could be invaluable friends otherwise.

You acquire knowledge readily and always strive for top achievement in whatever your career. Many artists, writers, archeologists and scientists have been born under Capricorn. Birthdate of: Peter Arno, cartoonist, painter; Elvis Presley, singer.

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Talk about whodunits! Not even the actors on "General Hospital" know who's guilty.

Guilty of murder, that is. One is required to add that clarification because characters on soap operas are always guilty of something.

The crime is the recent murder of Dr. Phil Brewer, that cad of a character who had upset so many lives over the years, breaking up marriages, fathering illegitimate children, doublecrossing friends — you know, the usual things that soap opera villains do. There are five characters with excellent motives and each has been filmed committing the foul deed.

Only one version will be seen by viewers at home. Which one? "It's the best kept secret ABC has ever had," says Emily McLaughlin, the actress who has played nurse Jessie Brewer since the serial debuted on ABC nearly 12 years ago.

The only people who know are "General Hospital" producer James Young and writers Jerome and Bridget Dobson. And they are not talking.

"It would be kind of stupid if I did, wouldn't it?" remarked Young. "I'll tell you the mechanics of it, but no more. That's the game. If you're going to have a mystery, let's have one. Agatha Christie doesn't give you the answer to her mysteries in the front of the book."

In most film and television mysteries, everyone connected with the production knows from the outset who the murderer is because it's in the finished script. The nature of soap operas is much different, however.

There is no finished script, for one thing; there's only a script from week to week. The story lines must be interesting and unpredictable enough to hold an audience — not just for two hours but day after day, week after week, month after month.

So Young's feeling was that if only one version of the murder had been filmed, word would have leaked out about the criminal's identity and the dramatic impact would have been substantially reduced. Also, in all probability, the program's ratings would suffer.

Explains actor James Sikking, whose alcoholic Dr. James Hobart is one of the suspects: "If you've programmed the story for, say 90 days, and word about the ending gets out tomorrow, then your next 89 days are screwed if you're basing them on suspense."

How long Young and the Dobsons will draw out the suspense on "General Hospital" remains undecided. Young says he's hoping it will play for several months — including a trial — before the murderer's identity must be revealed. But it all depends on how well they can maintain viewer interest.

Teays Valley Board Holds Annual Organization Meet

Routine business and the establishment of a regular meeting time was on the agenda of Teays Valley Board's organizational meeting Monday night. The board established the fourth Monday of each month at 8 p.m. as the regular meeting time. The group meets in the board room at the high school.

A service fund in the amount of $1,000 was established in accordance with provisions of law for expenses for any or all board members to attend workshops or conventions. The rate of compensation for the board members was also set at $20 per regular meeting.

The annual appropriation measure was discussed and passed as a temporary measure for the calendar year 1975. Certification has not been received from the county auditor regarding the anticipated taxes for 1975. The amount approved on the temporary measure was $2,618,025.26.

Payment of the bills as they come due was authorized by the board as long as the amounts fall within the bounds of the appropriation measure.

After approval of the minutes of the regular meeting held on Dec. 16, the board made routine transfers to finish the appropriation year.

Dr. Jack Warner was re-elected president of the local board of education and Everett Beers was re-elected vice-president.

In other business scheduled for the annual meeting, the board re-employed Mrs. Anne Cook as clerk-treasurer of the board. She was given a four-year contract for that position.

Bonds for the clerk-treasurer and each of the building secretaries were reviewed and approved. Each of the building secretaries were bonded in charge of the activities accounts in their respective buildings. Those persons are as follows: Lillian Brown, high school; Carmen Dountz, Scioto School; Virgie Vause, Ashville School; Pauline Loy, Walnut School; Darlene Neff, junior high.

Superintendent Benis Lutz and Mrs. Cook were authorized to place interim moneys on investment upon seeking quotations from both depository banks. Investments are to be made with the bank offering the best interest rates. Such transactions are to be confirmed by the board at a later time.

The superintendent and the assistant to the superintendent were approved to attend meetings and workshops which may be considered beneficial. Membership in the Ohio School Boards Association was considered and approved at a rate of $450 for the 1975 calendar year.

Quotations have been requested for board of education liability insurance coverage which will be due at the regular January meeting.

Mrs. Judith Roush was granted a leave of absence for pregnancy for the balance of the 1974-75 contract year. Her leave is to be without pay and is to be effective at the end of the day on Jan. 24. The board specified that the payment of the employee's share of Blue Cross, Blue Shield and Major Medical insurance coverage will be continued.

Approval was then granted for the new insurance rates from Blue Cross, Blue Shield and Major Medical.

Superintendent Lutz was authorized to approve staff attendance at professional meetings in accordance with the policy adopted by board action on Oct. 28, 1974. Orland Cooper and Robert Gregory were then approved to attend the Ohio Bookman's Review at the state fairgrounds on Jan. 14.

One request for personal leave was approved.

Board member Everett Beers gave a regular report on the activities of the Eastland Vocational Board of Education.

The board discussed briefly the energy problem. Although members have not received specific guidelines to cut back, the school personnel has been instructed to use the same guidelines to cut back, the school personnel has been instructed to use the same guidelines used last year such as turning off lights in rooms not being used.

The possibility of a schedule alternation for the junior high to allow for a milk or snack break was discussed. The break could not be accomplished without extending the school day for that amount of time which would have been allotted for the break so approval was not granted.

Principals are now studying enrollment figures for next year. No definite plans have been made regarding the kindergarten problem.

Action was taken to grant a religious group the use of the Ashville auditorium and the board made an exception to the regular board policy regarding the rate. A lower rate was approved for the use of the building with the understanding that the group will take care of its own cleaning.

Since only three board members were present at the December meeting, a resolution regarding the bus stop which was approved at the meeting was reaffirmed with all five board members concurring on the affirmation.

A final discussion item for the evening was the regular visits to the district buildings and the staff members. The board decided to make these visits within the next two weeks.

The organizational meeting was adjourned with the resolution to meet in regular session on Jan. 27.

Roger Hobble Elected LE Board President

Roger Hobble was elected president of the Logan Elm Board of Education at the board's annual organizational meeting Monday night. Hobble was vice-president of the board last year. Virginia Wood was elected vice-president of the board at the same meeting.

The only old business on the agenda for the evening was the acceptance of resignations from two full-time bus drivers, Jim Lands and Rosemary Burnett.

The first Monday of each month was established at the regular date for board meetings. During the months of November through March the meetings will convene at 7:30 p.m. and from April through October they will begin at 8 p.m. The rate of compensation for board members was established at $20 per meeting for a maximum of 12 meetings.

Clerk for the board Thelma Trimmer was re-employed and granted a four-year contract.

An appropriation measure was adopted on a temporary basis until April 1 in the amount of $2,268,183.12. The reason for the temporary measure is the uncertainty of the state funds.

One district teacher met with the board to explain an absence from school and requested that the board not make the full deduction for the absence. The board, however, unanimously voted to deny the request.

Shirley Lear was employed during the meeting as a regular bus driver.

Board approval was granted for Donald Bower to attend the American Association of School Administrators meeting in February and for Hobble to attend the Ohio School Boards Association workshop for new board presidents.

The annual membership dues for the OSBA with the subscriptions to "Briefcase" and "Negotiator" were approved in the amount of $450.

A resolution of necessity was adopted to renew membership for each board member with the OSBS liability insurance plan.

Discussions were held on the cost comparison study of the PBX phone system as opposed to the conventional phone system at the high school and the McDowell Exchange School. Action on the item was tabled.

The board then scheduled a special meeting with the McDowell teachers concerning the bicentennial project. That meeting was set for 7 p.m. on Jan. 20.

A meeting is also being arranged with the Pickaway County Health Department to discuss the school nurse program and to outline the services the local school district can expect from the health department.

Frank Seimer, Virginia Wood and Washington School Principal Dale Drake were appointed to serve with Superintendent John Henn concerning a recommendation as to the course of action to be taken on the addition of two extra classrooms. Two additional classrooms are needed for the coming school year at the Washington School.

All board members were present at the organizational meeting and the next regularly scheduled meeting is set for Feb. 3.

CIA Myths Hampering Probe?

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency has been surrounded by myths and protected by the paranoia of a nation, according to Victor Marchetti, a former agent who has written a book critical of some CIA policies.

"Americans are so filled with myths and so full of fears about communism that no one was ready to respond to the CIA until Watergate," said Marchetti, here Monday to promote his book "The CIA And The Cult of Intelligence."

Marchetti said this national paranoia about the possibility of communist infiltration led to the use of domestic spying.

"I knew the CIA was moving into this type of activity from a variety of bits and pieces," said Marchetti who was with the CIA for 14 years until he resigned in 1969. "There grew a suspicion that the radicals were being manipulated by foreign governments. "There was so much paranoia that people lost sight of what was going on."

Marchetti said he hopes the President's eight-man commission studying the CIA's activities will present a complete story. He has become wary however since the naming of the commission which includes Vice President Nelson Rockefeller and C. Douglas Dillon.

Marchetti noted that Rockefeller had served on the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory board and that Dillon also had to be considered one of the CIA's "friends and allies" on the committee.

50 Bills Face Assemblymen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill allowing public employees to strike under certain conditions was among 50 measures introduced in the opening session of the 111th General Assembly Monday.

The bill, written by the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association, is a perennial measure to repeal the Ferguson Act, which prohibits strikes by public employees.

It is not one of the six bills Democrats have pledged to try and shove through this week, before Gov. John J. Gilligan, a Democrat, give up his command to Republican James A. Rhodes.

The bill has no connection, sponsors said, with a current strike by some 5,000 Columbus public school teachers. Its main sponsor is, Rep. John D. Thompson Jr., D—15 Cleveland. It has 12 co-sponsors.

The Thompson bill would set up an involved mediation procedure for public employees, including creation of a five-member Ohio Public Employment Relations Board to deal with public agencies and their employees.

Another bill aimed along the same lines, sponsored by Rep. Thomas P. Gilmartin, would simply repeal the Ferguson Act.

The anti-strike law, in effect since the 40s, has been labeled "unworkable" by both Democratic and Republican administrations.

Negotiations Staleminated At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Despite a stalemate in negotiations, Cincinnati City Council will be asked Wednesday to boost the salaries of its 2,100 police and firemen by 9.8 per cent.

The action is expected to set off more controversy. Neither the police nor firemen have agreed to the 9.8 per cent package. Police want a 12.2 per cent raise and firemen are seeking a 13 per cent across-the-board hike.

City Manager E. Robert Turner said Monday that the move is being made because such emergency salary ordinances have to be adopted in council's first meeting of the year if increases are to be reflected in the first pay period.

The proposed wage increase ordinances will be placed on the council's calendar by its finance committee without a recommendation.

Elmer Dunaway, president of the bargaining Fraternal Order of Police (FOP), said the police position has not changed.

"We will not accept 9.8 per cent," he said.

Both police and firemen have been working without contracts since their 1974 pacts expired Dec. 31.

Police are scheduled to meet Wednesday night and firemen huddle Thursday.

of OCSEA, said the Ferguson Act "is strictly a punitive measure allowing the employer to fire any striking employee."

"It doesn't have a mechanism for resolving employer-employee problems," he said at a news conference.

The Thompson bill would allow the Employment Relations Board to deal with public agencies and their employees.

Strikes would be permitted only when an impasse has been reached. Procedures would be set up for the board to stop a strike if it presents a danger to public safety. "Our collective bargaining proposal provides a 'bill of rights' for all Ohio public employees," Stewart said.

"The lawmakers of Ohio should act quickly to adopt this proposal before we receive a mandated labor law from the federal government which might not be suitable to dealing with the labor problems of Ohio," Stewart said.

Among major bills introduced during the opening day were ones that would:

—Grant automatic cost of living increases to policemen and firemen who retire.

—Boosts from $1,500 to $2,000 the amount a city can spend before getting city legislative authority.

—Allow $1 to be deducted from the state income tax and earmarked to a political party.

—Create a new common pleas court judgeship in Marion County.

—Allow an employee who quits a job to become eligible for unemployment benefits after 90 days.

—Regulates use and transfer of computerized personal data and restricts use of social security numbers.
